1. INTRODUCTION AND WELCOME

The chair welcomed residents, councillors and officers to the meeting.

2. APOLOGIES

There were apologies for absence from Councillor Denise Capstick and Councillor David Hubber; and for lateness from Councillors Michael Bukola, Catherine McDonald and Michael Situ.

3. ITEMS OF BUSINESS THAT THE CHAIR DEEMS URGENT

The chair announced that a late report - Community Council Highways Capital Investment 2013/14, had been accepted and circulated as part of Supplemental Agenda No. 1.

The report recommendation contained a typing error. The correct unallocated figure was £47,045.

4. DISCLOSURE OF MEMBERS' INTERESTS AND DISPENSATIONS

Members made the following declarations in relation to the agenda items below:

12. Local Parking Amendments

Councillor Richard Livingstone, non-pecuniary, as he lived near to the location of the proposed double yellow lines on Goodwin Close.

5. MINUTES

RESOLVED:

That the minutes of the meeting held on 29 April 2013 be agreed as an accurate record of that meeting, and signed by the chair.

6. DEPUTATIONS / PETITIONS (IF ANY)

There were none.

7. COMMUNITY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Bermondsey in Bloom

Councillor Eliza Mann explained that there were various nomination categories available. The awards were open to amateurs only and the benefits would be enjoyed by all residents. The displays helped to improve the appearance of the community and also helped to reduce anti-social behaviour.

Nominations would close in July. All nominations would receive a certificate.

Dockstock 2 Event

Furkan Choudhury said this year's event took place on 25 May 2013. There were about 700 people and 10 bands on the day, featuring a broad range of music. The event had been very well received and there were pictures on Facebook. Another would take place on 31 August 2013.

Summer Market, South Dock Marina

Sharon Coleman explained that a summer market had been open since May 2013 which would run until September 2013. The traders needed the public to get behind the market to make it a success.

What's On in Rotherhithe Group

Pauline Adenwalla explained the Rotherhithe group had been formed in 2006 as part of Southwark's public realm strategy. A map was produced showing the various places of interest for visitors along with a website SE16.com. Various grants were sought for signage and information boards in order to promote the area further. Pauline added that some of the group were looking into the idea of setting up a neighbourhood forum in the local area.

Docklands Junior Football Club (DJFC)

Jamie Mehmet with help from several young players from DJFC, explained that the club played out of Bacon's College and all the coaches were volunteers. The youngsters' subscriptions paid for pitch fees and referee's fees. A recent football trip had taken the youngsters to Turkey for a great experience and matches against Besiktas and Galatasaray. The DJFC club was looking for local sponsorship to enable future football trips and to reduce weekly fees for the players.

Bermondsey Street Festival

Damian O'Brien explained that the festival was arranged by volunteers and aimed to unite the diverse community through the arts. It involved people from all sections of the community and was a showcase for local talent. This year it would take place on 21 September. Volunteers were still much needed in advance and on the day. Last year about 15,000 people attended and something similar was hoped for this year.

Community Sculpture Project

Austin Emery said that the project had taken place at Leathermarket in October 2012. There was a free and open workshop with help from community council funding and over one hundred people had come along to make their own piece of sculpture. The idea was to assemble the various pieces into a single sculpture and that work was ongoing. It would be happening again in October 2013 and all were welcome to take part.

Bermondsey Map Project

David Chavannes explained that there were plans to produce a Bermondsey map along similar lines to the Rotherhithe map. It would be an excellent resource to promote the area. There would be an initial working party to look at old previously produced maps and consider options for a new paper map, an online map and an app-map for smart phones.

Rotherhithe Society

Alyson Moore explained that an online survey had responded positively to the idea of a Rotherhithe society and this was followed by a well attended public meeting. There were several practicalities involved in developing the idea further and another meeting would take place on 4 July at the Time and Talents hall.

8. EVENT IN THE BLUE

Russell Dryden, Chair of the Blue Bermondsey business association, explained that the group started a few years ago to represent local traders and to make the area more vibrant and attractive. Within the Blue community traders were looking to form a Business Improvement District, this would via the payment of business levies raise much needed funds to improve the area. In the Blue they would hold an annual community day which would particularly welcome new residents into the area and find out more. This Blue day would take place on Sunday 18 August 2013. The day would feature local bands and stalls from community groups to promote the area.

9. THE BERMONDSEY CARNIVAL

Russell Dryden, Chair of the Blue Bermondsey Business Association, explained that the Bermondsey carnival started over a hundred years ago. It would be held in Southwark Park with various musicians, a funfair, food stalls and face painting. There would also be workshops for young people, among these would be 'Mind Your Own Business' which aimed to show young people how to start up businesses and become professionals. The carnival would take place on Saturday 6 July 2013.

Gary Magold and Barry Duckett added that the Rotherhithe festival would take place on Saturday 27 July 2013, at King George's Field. There would be funfair rides, a blues singer and other bands along with stocks and a gyroscope. It would raise funding for cancer research.

10. CANADA WATER AREA ACTION PLAN

Tim Cutts, Team Leader of Planning Policy, outlined the revisions being made to the Canada Water Area Action Plan (CWAAP). The CWAAP is the plan that sets out the guidance, policies and vision for how development should happen at Canada Water over the next 10 to 15 years. The CWAAP was agreed last year but at the end of the process the Daily Mail announced it would be leaving the print works in the area. This had freed up a large space and so the council was consulting on a framework for development on that site. Consultation would run until 30 July 2013.

Many residential properties had already been built and the plan now was to maximise non residential use, including shops, offices and a study facility. The CWAAP also aimed to extend the network of pedestrian and cycle routes. There was also a commitment to refurbish the Seven Islands Leisure Centre whilst looking longer term to see if there was potential for a site for a new leisure centre.

The revised CWAAP no longer included a new secondary school as that would instead be built in Bermondsey. The potential for the development of taller buildings had been reviewed and these were now included in the plan if they created more public realm and were of excellent design.

A number of local exhibitions and drop-in centres had been arranged as part of the consultation. For further information visit:

In response to questions, Tim made some of the following responses:

- The council was looking at the feasibility of expanding existing primary schools in the area to provide additional places. Options for an additional school on Harmsworth Quays had been flagged up in the CWAAP.

- Recently a study had been commissioned with Transport for London (TfL) to look at the feasibility of two-way traffic on Lower Road and potential junction design. A cycle super-highway was being considered for 2015.
- Conversations had taken place with NHS Southwark about GP surgeries and new health facilities.
- £9 million had been identified as a cost for works on Lower Road.
- Neighbourhood plans could provide another level of detail beyond strategic plans and officers would be keen to work with any neighbourhood forum.
- The CWAAP anticipated open space on Harmsworth Quays but a new park was unlikely.
- The boatyard in St George's Wharf should be retained in the CWAAP. Some car park land nearby may be used for a shop or a hotel development.
- Lewisham should contribute some funds to the Lower Road works.

The timescale for the CWAAP was that it would be presented to council assembly towards the end of 2013, before submission to the Planning Inspectorate. It would then go out for public examination in 2014.

11. PUBLIC QUESTION TIME

Councillor Mark Gettleson updated residents on the situation regarding the junction of Abbey Street with Tower Bridge Road. Following several accidents and a campaign by local residents, preliminary work was under way, including public consultation, for the installation of two crossings. One crossing would be on the west side of Tower Bridge Road and one on the north side of Abbey Street. Residents were encouraged to take part in the consultation.

In response to a public question on the planned October beer festival in Southwark Park, residents and councillors expressed concerns about a paid event which would close off part of the park and may encourage binge drinking.

12. LOCAL PARKING AMENDMENTS

Note: This is an executive function

Councillors considered the information detailed in the report.

RESOLVED:

That the following local parking amendments, detailed in the appendices to the report, be approved for implementation subject to the outcome of any necessary statutory procedures:
