Welcome to Peckham Space

Peckham Space is a new venue based in Peckham Square that produces new artwork in response to and with people who live in Peckham, London SE15.

Peckham Space has been created by a collaborative partnership between Camberwell College of Arts, University of the Arts London (UAL) and Southwark Council. The building of this new space for Peckham has been project managed by UAL Estates. The new building opens to the public on Saturday on 12 and Sunday 13 June 2010 with a programme of public events. Funding for build has come from UAL/HEIF money and Southwark Council. Money for funding the programme has come from UAL Widening Participation and Arts Council.

In preparation for the new building, programming has been ongoing for the last two years. Programming is undertaken by Camberwell College staff: Director of Peckham Space Emily Druiff assisted by Sarah Mclean. Over the past 18 months Peckham Space has delivered five commissions which are showcased on the website www.peckhamspace.com via images, podcasts and video. Commissions have included bringing together nationally recognised artists with local groups including a primary school and youth groups. Structurally the programming sits within CCW Galleries, which is part of CCW External Relations.

Over the coming 18 months Peckham Space will produce contemporary artworks that are embedded and relevant to life in Peckham by working with already established community partners as well as developing new partners. Artists will be commissioned with a proven track record of working in this field to produce new artworks made in partnership with our community partners. There will be three 10 week exhibitions per year that will showcase these commissions at Peckham Space.

The over-arching aim of this programme is for the College to engage in a meaningful and purposeful manner with the locale in order to encourage more local young people to engage with the College and hopefully to progress to Camberwell College of Arts or another college within UAL.
The College hopes that this project will demonstrate to Southwark our intention to connect locally which will help the College pursue more ambitious local developments such as the student accommodation development on Peckham Road. This project will be going to Planning sometime during August and if accepted will provide UAL with an additional 140 beds.
