			continuing through to Oct 15 and potentially beyond. The participants will increase their creative skills alongside personal and social skills as they come together as a group with many different backgrounds to create something that is much bigger than any individual part. They will perform to over 1 million audience members demonstrating a positive representation of young people in London, particularly those from Southwark and Lambeth. They will also take what they have learnt back to their local communities – schools, colleges, estates and be able to share the positive impact there.
414790/PNCC/15/3	Golden Hope	Access To Work For All	We wish to develop a new generation of Black entrepreneurs by bringing together unemployed, failed and active African businesses, young adult graduates and other community leaders and businesses to meet, socialise, share knowledge, skills and expertise. We aim to assist and improve the welfare of French speaking black and ethnic minority communities living in Southwark particularly within the Elephant and Castle, Walworth, Bermondsey, Camberwell and Peckham area and strengthen the local economy and encourage investment.	£2962
415025/PNCC/15/4	Iconic Steps	A Moving Image	Working with 12 - 24 young people aged 16 – 25, resident in South London and from disadvantaged backgrounds, Iconic Steps will run a two-week intensive video production-training course that will run alongside the creation of a feature film in Peckham, exploring the effects of gentrification in south London communities. In partnership with The Bussey Building, National Film and Television School (NFTS), 2Inspire and Aim Image. They will create their own two, 3 min documentaries about the community using the skills and knowledge they have learned.	£ 5,500.00

Through a combination of discipline, clear parameters and tough love, we help disadvantaged children and young people grow in confidence and maturity to achieve in their personal, social and academic development. LOT provides one to one/group mentoring support to help them regain focus, build confidence and address inappropriate and anti-social behaviour. In addition, our project will be able to provide extra coaching to those who show academic promise but lack the confidence to apply to prestigious educational institutions. We will be able to help them prepare personal statements, CVs, hone study skills and interview techniques. In summary, we have a track record in turning around BME students.
414104/PNCC/15/6	New Covenant Church	Celebrating Southwark Mass Choir and Dance	The project aims to bring peace and joy to East Walworth, Livesey, Peckham, South Bermondsey and other Southwark wards by preparing a group of 250 singers and 50 dancers from the local community, to perform at the Elephant & Nun Festival. It also aim to reduce crime by unveiling career prospects in art and media to local people.	£4716.31

414663/PNCC/15/9	Southwark Community Festival	Summer Festival	This outreach event, Summer Festival, would be a springboard to promote and encourage a better community life where everyone feels welcomed. This will be an opportunity for us to interact with the community, share, entertain and teach some skills. Our ultimate goal is to equip, encourage team work and develop community cohesion.	£ 3745.00
414808/PNCC/15/10	Southwark Muslim Youth Society	what I know about Islam	this project aims to campaign against radicalisation and educate Muslim youth in understanding the true Islam and how young Muslim can contribute in the borough	£ 1200.00
413611/PNCC/15/11	Victory Youth Group	Where U Going ? Project	The aim of the project is to get young people to think and ask themselves the question "Where U Goin' with your life?". Using performing arts, real life testimonials and more, we aim to get young people thinking positively about life; especially theirs. Our work in the borough has taught us that many have family problems, peer pressure, gang affiliated problems, teenage pregnancy, depression, addictions, lack of direction in life amongst others and this project aims to motivate them to believe that regardless of the problem, they have the power within them to make (positive) things happen in their lives. We aim to educate them on making right choices and we have had prior success at this through our events such as 'In Too Deep', 'Hooked', 'Heart Break Estate' (which all drew hundreds of youths to it; the biggest being over 600 youths)	£4,858.00

On 30th July 1915 the horses were moved into Lyndhurst Road (now Lyndhurst Way) to allow the stables to be sterilised. This unusual event was captured by local photographer Frederick Alfred Finch and is now a well-known archival image. As well as soldiers and stable hands, local civilians gather, standing on their front steps or on the pavement beside the road. The gun carriages are in the picture too, the very same guns used on the battlefields in WWI. Peckham War Horse Project plans to recreate this photograph in collaboration with local residents, community groups, schools and the horses, officers and soldiers from The King's Troop. 413244	All Saints Church	'Making space for good in Peckham'	We have an established track record of providing free, expert and impartial help to local people of all faiths and none. This project, 'Making space for good in Peckham', is about turning the church building into a one-stop shop of advice, care and practical help, initially one day per week, so that this work is developed further. Our aim is to open up the space of All Saints church in the week so it can be a resource for the neighbourhood by becoming a 'Community Hub'. Specifically, we are seeking to build on our long-standing work as a debt advice centre and our relationship with Pecan and the local Foodbank to offer relevant services which our community audit has shown Peckham needs. We plan to provide a range of services for local people needing help with debt counselling, food provision via FoodBank, money advice from Credit Union, access to computers to search for jobs, benefit entitlement or for preparing CVs - all in the context of a welcoming café space which would be open to anyone and free of charge.	£ 4,970

414956	Carnaval del Pueblo Association	Latino Dance for All	Carnaval del Pueblo will extend its work to Peckham Liberal Club thereby creating pockets of cultural activity in preparation for participation in its outdoor events such as Plaza Latina, Nursery Row Park and Carnaval del Pueblo, Burgess Park. Enlarging the impact of this vibrant cultural heritage to the neighbourhoods of Southwark, this is a response to interest from wider community. The idea is to create Latin American dance and music workshops for people in Peckham so that local residents may enjoy working on this side by side with Latin Americans themselves, identifying cultural aspects in common and create new friendships and mutual respect whilst increasing health and well being and self-confidence in public performance	£ 4,845
414123	Connecting Voices (COVO)	Connecting Communities	The aim of the Connecting Communities project is to create opportunities for people from different cultural and ethnic backgrounds in Peckham and Nunhead to come together in a relaxed informal environment to get to know one another and learn more about one other. We want to use this project to break down barriers and facilitate cross cultural interaction, in a series of community inspired events that will take place bi-weekly over six months. We hope this project will make a positive impact by bringing people together in a relaxed and enjoyable way, promote cross cultural interaction, increase tolerance for one another and improve community cohesion.	£ 5,000

414981	London Wildlife Trust	Dirt to Dinner	Dirt to Dinner is planning to kick-start the creation of five new community growing groups on five social housing estates across Peckham. The project will inspire Peckham residents to learn about food growing, construction, healthy lifestyles and gardening through engagement with their communities. Funding from the communities fund will allow us to promote our work to get as many people from across the estates involved as possible, buy seeds and tools for each estate, buy education materials so young and old can learn together and build 18 raised beds across three of the estates. The project will allow residents to transform neglected areas of their neighbourhood into thriving community gardens. Using sustainable materials and permaculture techniques, we will train volunteers in how to develop their community gardens and learn the skills required to ensure that the five new community groups continue beyond our involvement. London Wildlife Trust, through part of the wider Dirt to Dinner project funded by the City Bridge Trust has already worked with nine Peckham estates to grow food since May 2014, using a needs led approach to develop regular volunteering sessions and educate residents about sustainability via organic growing on an individual and community-wide scale.	£4964
