Dear Paul,

I am writing in regard to the Peckham Craft Beer Festival that The London Beer Factory are organising in Copeland Park on 22nd July 2017.

The aim of the festival is to celebrate the beer being brewed in South London by bringing together the breweries within South London and giving them an opportunity to showcase some of their most interesting beers.

Copeland Park was chosen as the location because of it's central location within south London and lay out of the industrial estate suits a market style festival.

The festival itself will consist of 16 micro breweries from South London. They will each have a trestle table from which they will be able to showcase their most interesting beers. These are sometimes one offs beers but generally produced in low quantities with the aim of showing the public the skill in craftsmanship they can produce.

The festival will be set up in a similar manner to a market, with each brewery having a stall either in the Copeland Car Park or in The Gallery.

In terms of controlling numbers, we will have security on the door of Copeland Gallery making sure that the capacity will not be exceeded. The capacity in The Gallery will be limited to 250 people, so we can amend the TEN: 859126 to show this. The Copeland gallery is where we will have regulated entertainment, the only music in the Car Park will be background music therefore we can amend the TEN: 859128 to show this.

We will have 3 security staff who will have radio contact with each other. They will be responsible for managing the capacity at the event as well as preventing any public nuisance and make sure that people leave in an orderly manner. This will be assisted by six staff from The London Beer Factory who will have radio contact with the security and each other. All of the members of staff working for the breweries involved will be briefed on security measures and fire safety procedures. I will be present throughout the festival and ultimately responsible for making sure that the event is carried out in the correct manner.

To clarify the event being held on Roof D under TEN 859129 is a separate event. This is a pop up that we're hosting on various Fridays and Saturdays throughout the summer. This is run by a separate team within The London Beer Factory but overseen by Neil Pickford. This will have separate security who will make sure the capacity of 250 people is not exceeded. The security will also make sure that there is no anti social behaviour and prevent any public nuisance.

Please let me know if you have any other questions.

Many thanks,
