Public questions raised
Q1	John Payne from Crystal Palace CA said large developments plans which are yards from each other will change and impact the area. He suggested that DCC should look more closely at addressing cross border issues.
A1	The chair said they would consider cross boundary issues at future DCC meetings.
Q2	Marilyn Roy from Red Post Hill residents committee: Following the special meeting on 19 Nov 07 concerning North Dulwich Bridge, Red Post Hill, Dulwich Hamlet School have still not yet been consulted and the Council's planning section have not notified residents. She is hoping to put together a petition. Also, When is the planning application going to committee – main planning or DCC planning?
A2	Responses from Cllrs: Planning application is subject to the 3 week consultation period. Consideration needs to be given to the weight restrictions and traffic management study etc. In addition, 1) There will a meeting on 9 Jan 2008 with officers, residents of Red Post Hill and the Dulwich Society to discuss this issue further. 2) Agreed that this will be an agenda item for the next meeting on 28 Jan 2008 to discuss the design aspects and parapet of the bridge. 3) That officers (in planning) as part of the consultation process write formally to the relevant schools in the area - Dulwich Hamlet School about the bridge's planning application.

Officers from the traffic and transport group (Barbara Selby and David Moffat) were present at the meeting to explain that the transport planning team is set to start compiling its funding submission to Transport for London (TfL) for transport programmes in Southwark for 2009/10. This process feeds into Southwark's Local Implementation Plan annual progress report. Officers stated that the consultation process started early this year so that residents, councillors and local interest groups are fully engaged in the process. The submitted schemes need to be approved by the Council's executive before their submission to TfL in June 2008.

Supplementary planning documents (SPD) consultation on draft residential design standards

Simon Bevan from the planning policy team was present to talk about the consultation process for the SPD draft residential design standards. This includes some of the following:

- Floor space for minimum size houses
- Quality of storage space, size of gardens or roof terrace etc.
