October 2021

This action plan sets out Southwark Council's zero tolerance approach to long term empty homes and sets out plans to bring empty homes quickly back into use. We will work closely with our residents and property owners while taking firm action where required.

The problem of empty homes and limited powers

London is in the midst of a housing crisis. At a time when tens of thousands of families across the capital are reliant on temporary accommodation or on waiting lists for a suitable home, it has never been more important to tackle the issue of empty homes, with numbers of empty homes rising across London and the country.

Empty housing in Southwark, as across London, is a problem predominantly driven by the private sector. The overwhelming majority of empty homes are privately owned where there are limited powers to tackle this. As a council we recognised the scale of this problem and are committed to clamping down on empty homes which are a needless waste and a lost resource, particularly in an area where there is high demand and significant levels of housing need. Empty homes can also create a serious blight on a neighbourhood by creating environmental problems with pests and as places of anti-social behaviour.

The council is committed to 'Take action to reduce the number of empty homes in our borough, so more local people can move into them', as set out in the Borough Plan 2018-2022. In February 2021 Cabinet agreed actions to be included in this Empty Homes Action Plan. The full report is available online here. The council will use all powers available, while recognising that these are extremely limited and we need significant changes at a national level to support our ambitions.

Part 1 of the following action plan sets out Southwark Council's zero tolerance approach to long term empty homes in the borough. There is simply too high a demand for housing for it to be acceptable that properties are left empty for long periods of time. We plan to use all the powers available to us as cost efficiently as possible to deter landlords from leaving properties empty, while at the same time working proactively with landlords and residents to bring properties back into use as quickly as possible. We know in many cases people may just need advice or some financial support to make the required repairs, or to find a suitable buyer or tenant. We have also started further research to increase our understanding of the reasons properties are being left empty and what further support may be required to assist landlords to quickly return properties to use.

While we are committed to use all the powers, buttons and levers available to us, our powers are limited. There is more that needs to happen at a national level to give local authorities the powers to truly tackle this problem, and therefore the following action plan sets out how we will lobby for further powers and resources in this area.

However we also recognise there is more as a council we can do to reduce the number of empty homes we manage. While there are valid reasons for many of these being vacant there is more we can do to reduce the number of empty homes, through speeding up re-letting times and reducing the number of homes which are empty as part of regeneration schemes. This is set out in Part 2 of the action plan.

How many empty homes are there?

There are many different definitions of empty homes and a variety of sources of data, which all have some limitations. The simplest way to compare empty homes is to focus on the council tax data. This is the method we have used for the purposes of this report. However, to a large extent this does rely on self-reporting of the relevant council tax status of a property by the tenant or owner.

Each property is either classed as being an empty home or an empty home with a premium applied for properties which are empty for over 2, 5 or 10 years, provided they are unfurnished. This gives a total of 4,469 empty homes in October 2021. Of these 1,219 had been empty for over 2 years.<sup>1</sup>

In October 2020 (the data used in the February 2021 Empty Homes Report) there were 3,720 empty homes. Of these, 1,009 had been empty for over 2 years. A higher figure of 4,218 empty homes was given on MHCLG Live Table 615. This included an additional 498 homes which were empty but in exempt classes as detailed in a table below.

We are prohibited by legislation from applying a council tax premium on properties which are furnished but unoccupied.<sup>2</sup>

Property category	October 2020	October 2021 <sup>3</sup>
Empty with zero council tax discount	2,711	3,250
Empty for 2-5 years with 100% premium council tax	795	932
Empty for over 5 years with 200% premium council tax	214	247
Empty for over 10 years with 300% premium council tax (introduced in April 2021)	N/A	40
(Total with a premium)	1,009	1,219
Total empty and substantially unfurnished (with or without a premium)	3,720	4,469

<sup>2</sup> Section 11B of the Local Government Finance Act 1992 (as amended by the Local Government Finance Act 2012 and Rating (Property in Common Occupation) and Council Tax (Empty Dwellings) Act 2018, states that “For the purposes of this section, a dwelling is a “long-term empty dwelling” on any day if for a continuous period of at least 2 years ending with that day —

(a) It has been unoccupied, and (b) it has been substantially unfurnished (Additional Government Guidance Letter 2014 - A property which is substantially unfurnished is unlikely to be occupied or be capable of occupation. A property which is capable of occupation can reasonably be expected to contain some, if not all, items from both of the following categories: furniture such as bed, chairs, table, wardrobe or sofa, and white goods such as fridge, freezer or cooker.)

As of September 2020, there were nearly 143,000 homes of all tenure types in Southwark, therefore taking the total figures in the following table, there is an approximate 5% vacancy rate in the borough. Further information by tenure is included in the following sections.

The following table breaks each category down by types of owner recorded as the primary liable party for paying the council tax.

It should be noted that this is a snapshot of time at the beginning of October and a best estimate using the information available at the time. There can be delays for people to notify council tax as they move in to properties. There is also a regular process of reviewing the data on council properties to correct issues and anomalies that arise, such as from the self-reporting of information by residents. Therefore some of the data is still subject to this review process.

<sup>4</sup> In a few exceptional circumstances, certain high value void properties are sold to raise capital receipts for the housing investment programme to increase the supply of new homes and improve the quality of existing accommodation. The council also occasionally disposes of individual properties where there are major structural issues, and repair is deemed not to provide value for taxpayer money. All disposals of council property are made following the council's void disposal strategy which was updated in December 2020. There were also some private homes built for sale to help cross subsidise the new homes programme.

<https://moderngov.southwark.gov.uk/documents/s92409/Report%20Review%20of%20Void%20Disposal%20Strategy.pdf>

<sup>5</sup> This includes 83 properties recorded as vacant by council tax but recorded as occupied by the housing department which will be reviewed with council tax. It includes some properties which are being used as temporary accommodation and going through the process of being relet.

<sup>6</sup> The two 200% premium council tax empty council properties appear to be an error. From housing department data, one looks to be occupied (to be confirmed with the TMO), and one has recently become void again but has been occupied since the council tax recorded void date. Therefore the 200% premium should probably not apply. This will be reviewed with the council tax section.

<sup>7</sup> Most of these furnished council voids appear to have been recorded as furnished in error. Three of these appear to be occupied rather than empty so should probably not be included at all. One belongs to a leaseholder. Three are not housing department units. The Council is currently reviewing these cases and the council tax records will then be updated as required.

<sup>8</sup> Please see footnote 7.

What lies behind these numbers?

- Southwark is a leading borough in terms of the delivery of new homes of all types but this does temporarily increase the number of empty properties, however most of these are let or sold and therefore do not become long term empty properties. If any properties do remain empty the council works with the owner to explore other ways of bringing these into use.
- Some properties may be deliberately left empty as investment opportunities.
- There is an increased churn associated with having a significant private rented sector, larger than many boroughs.
- The COVID-19 pandemic has meant that many students have not chosen to rent in the private rented sector while their courses have been mainly online. In addition there was some evidence of an initial decline in demand in the private rented sector in London, with many households choosing to move further out given the opportunities presented by home working. These changes in the market are likely to be temporary.
- When a resident passes away, it can take some time for a property to then be brought back to use, especially through probate proceedings. Sadly the pandemic has also increased the number of such deaths.
- There are a high number of empty properties situated within large scale regeneration schemes such as at Aylesbury Estate, and some where fire risk assessment work has identified a need to vacate blocks and take corrective action such as at Ledbury Estate. Some fluctuation in numbers is expected as essential safety work is conducted that will mean that blocks, such as Marie Curie House, will need to be decanted.

PART 1 – TACKLING PRIVATE SECTOR EMPTY HOMES

The main focus of the Southwark Empty Homes Action Plan is on the private sector as the overwhelming majority of empty homes are privately owned. In Southwark, privately owned empty homes account for about 75% of all empty homes including second homes and furnished homes (5,786) and around 59% of the unfurnished empty total (at 2,654). The vast majority of furnished empty homes are also in the private sector accounting for 2,647 of the total 2,745 in this category across all tenures. There were 475 second homes in the private sector.<sup>9</sup>

In addition, other registered providers (including housing associations and other local authorities) had 390 of the unfurnished empty properties. 135 had been empty for over two years. 76 of these were linked to a block which was required to be demolished. There were a further 77 furnished empty homes.

The council has adopted a zero tolerance approach to long term empty properties. While the council's preference is to work constructively with landlords and residents to bring properties back into use, the council is committed to providing disincentives for properties to be left empty, such as applying the maximum permissible council tax premium, and through enforcement action where property owners are unwilling or unable to bring their homes back into use.

There are a number of means to bring empty homes back into use from informal measures to the use of enforcement powers, which includes Enforced Sales, Empty Dwelling Management Orders and Compulsory Purchase Orders. Many of these are extremely complex and time consuming and while we will not shy away from pursuing such measures where necessary, we will also lobby for simplification of the powers, and for further powers and funding to enable further action to be taken.

<sup>9</sup> Under the rules set by national government, council tax premiums can only be applied on long-term empty and unfurnished properties. See footnote 1. The council will be lobbying central government to include furnished properties within this category as part of this action plan.

PART 2 – REDUCING THE NUMBER OF EMPTY COUNCIL HOMES

While the issue of empty homes is concentrated in the private sector, a quarter of empty homes are owned by the council. The vast majority of these are related to ongoing estate redevelopment, major refurbishment, disposal or non-housing use. This accounts for at least 74% of the vacant council properties.

The figures below are all records on the council tax database where the council is recorded as the principal account holder. It includes properties which have been purchased as part of regeneration schemes and some other long term non HRA council owned properties like school houses, park keeper houses etc. It also includes some private units which were built to help subsidise the new homes programme which are awaiting sale.

Vacant council stock by best estimate of type October 2021 (note this includes non HRA stock)<sup>11</sup>

Vacant home type	Number	Percentage
Disposal and private homes built for sale <sup>12</sup>	58	4%
Redevelopment and major refurbishment	978	68%
Non housing use, gypsy and traveller plots and leaseholders <sup>13</sup>	39	3%
Total empty homes not available for use	1,075	74%
Homes being made ready for re-letting (including temporary accommodation and TMO properties)	371 <sup>14</sup>	26%
TOTAL COUNCIL VOIDS	1,446	100%

<sup>11</sup> Non-HRA properties include homes built on our estates that are for shared ownership or outright sale as part of our new homes programme. It also can include residential properties belonging to other departments such as former schoolhouses.

<sup>12</sup> In a few exceptional circumstances, certain high value void properties are sold to raise capital receipts for the housing investment programme to increase the supply of new homes and improve the quality of existing accommodation. We also occasionally dispose of individual properties where there are major structural issues and repair is deemed not to provide value for taxpayer money. All disposals of council property are made following the council's void disposal strategy which was updated in December 2020. There are also some private homes built for sale to help cross subsidise the new homes programme.

<https://moderngov.southwark.gov.uk/documents/s92409/Report%20Review%20of%20Void%20Disposal%20Strategy.pdf>

<sup>13</sup> This figure includes where properties are being used for other purposes such as offices, a few gypsy and traveller plots, some non-housing department properties, and 11 properties owned by council leaseholders where the council may have been recorded as the primary liable party in error. These cases will be reviewed with council tax.

<sup>14</sup> This figure includes 83 properties where the housing department records the property as being occupied. Some of these will be where the new occupant has not yet registered their details with council tax. This may also include some units which have become vacant where the housing department has not yet been notified. These cases will be reviewed with council tax for accuracy.

Of the total 1,446 empty properties, 1,036 were council properties related to ongoing estate redevelopments, major refurbishments or disposals, of which 736 had been empty for over two years accounting for 93% of all long term empty council properties, and 60% of all long term empty properties in all tenures.

The vast majority of these long term empty properties are linked to the Aylesbury Estate regeneration. There were 611 void properties on the Aylesbury Estate of which 400 had been vacant for over 2 years. There were also 98 empty properties on the Ledbury Estate of which 84 had been vacant for over two years. There are also blocks that have been emptied, and residents rehoused, to allow for repair works to take place. Maydew accounted for 135 voids of which 133 were void for over 2 years.

With the regeneration voids, some of the properties are effectively uninhabitable but there are strict rules about what can be removed from the council tax property list on which these figures are based.<sup>15</sup>

Active empty council homes (known as 'voids') vary in number day by day as a result of the usual churn of residents moving in and out of our 37,000 council homes. Once a tenant leaves a property, we cannot simply re-let this home immediately. We have high standards for our council homes and many need to be re-decorated or have improvements made to bring them back up to a high standard. As of October 2021 this number stood at 371, though this includes 83 properties which the housing department records as occupied, so many of these may not actually be vacant. These cases will be reviewed with council tax. Therefore of the total available council rented stock, roughly 1% were empty, consistent with other social landlords.

We have specific targets to turn around these voids and bring them back in to use as soon as possible. Those homes that need significant works after being vacated are known as 'major voids' and our target is bring them back into use in no more than 100 days. Homes which only need some repairs or upkeep work are 'minor voids' and we aim to bring these back into use and re-let within 28 days. These targets are reflected in the Action Plan tables below.

<sup>15</sup> A property's only considered derelict if it is not possible to live in it, for example because it's been damaged by weather, rot or vandalism or would need major structural works to make it 'wind and watertight' again

Minor voids turnaround in days (average) <28 days	Cheryl Russell, Director of Resident Services	Michael Scorer	2021/22	As included as a key measure in the Borough Plan. COVID-19 and its impacts have hit our ability to let properties as quickly as we can. It is anticipated that the impact of the pandemic will continue to be reflected in performance and higher than normal turnaround times due to the continuation of the challenges presented by COVID-19 and the need to comply with strict social distancing measures and guidance. The team are working closely with Asset Management to continue to turn properties around as quickly as possible. The outturn figure reflects that we are broadly comparable with the average London re-let times during the past year.
