Dear Resident,

More time to respond to controlled parking consultation in Queen's Road

The council is consulting on whether or not we should introduce controlled parking in the Queens Road area. We delivered information booklets to every home in the proposed zone before Christmas, and have held drop in sessions to discuss the proposals.

We are grateful to everyone who has already spoken to us or responded to the consultation, as the views of local residents play an important role in the decision-making process.

We have received requests from residents to extend the consultation, as some people felt that they had less opportunity to respond over the Christmas period. Therefore we are extending the consultation, and it will remain open for your responses and comments until midnight on Sunday 28 January.

Please do take the opportunity to tell us what you think before the new deadline. You can find all the information you need at:

Best wishes

Southwark Council
