8. That the event organisers must consult Southwark Council's highways and parking departments and Transport for London (TfL) and act on any appropriate guidance. A transport infrastructure plan shall be drawn up and submitted as part of the application process.

3. Reasons

The reasons for the decision are as follows:

The licensing sub-committee were advised that there were no outstanding representations from any of the responsible authorities. The sub-committee heard that the licensing authority and environmental protection authority had agreed conditions with the applicant and in view of these conditions had withdrawn their representations on that basis.

The licensing sub-committee heard from the applicant's representative who advised the licensing sub-committee that the Gala was an independent festival heavily focused on food with the best of London street traders attending and supplying the event.

The representative advised that Sunday's event would be over 18's only and that the event on Monday would be family friendly, welcoming children.

The representative advised that "We are the Fair" are an awards winning events agency who have been in operation for 18 years with a proven track record of organising successful similar and larger events. The representative stated that their approach was to high quality and safe events, highlighting that the event which operated in 2017 for a capacity of 5,000 was a success with one noise complaint which was dealt with appropriately.

The applicant had employed noise consultants which considers issues relevant for the site and recognises a careful balance to be struck for this event. The noise consultant had produced a noise management strategy assessing the appropriate levels of noise and limitations to be observed during the festival.

The noise consultants would be present at the festival and would take between 20-40 readings throughout each day and would be responsible for minimising and dealing with any complaints directly and in line with the conditions.

The representative confirmed that there would be no entry after 8pm and no re-entry throughout each day.

The licensing sub-committee were also advised that the applicant had met with the ecology officer and parks team and measures have been agreed to ensure that there will be minimal disturbance to the park. By way of example, they agreed that important areas would be cordoned off by fencing and that lights would not be hung off certain trees to minimise any potential disruption to the parks wildlife. They stated barriered walkways would be used for organised ingress and egress and floor covering would be provided where necessary to prevent damage. Queuing would be organised in a way as to not cause damage or disturbance and would be barriered.

The applicant had also paid a damage deposit as an additional measure to ensure that minimal disruption or damage to the park.

The representative advised that as a number of local train stations will be closed they would provide information to customers detailing alternatives public transport routes in order to manage the ingress and egress.

The representative confirmed that they had engaged in early liaison with responsible authorities and agreed 51 conditions and as a result of which the responsible authorities had withdrawn their representations.

The representative agreed that they would ensure the safety advisory group (SA)G were in agreement and confirm that they are happy to sign of all documents listed at paragraph 14 in section 1 of the agreed conditions which are to be added to the licence.

The representative advised that they would make good any damage to the park caused by the event or their patrons and that they had agreed to enforce this by way of a damage deposit and by agreement of conditions. They would also employ a reputable waste company to ensure that waste was collected throughout the duration of the festival and also after the festival and that they would ensure that the festival waste was cleared in the streets outside the festival area.

They stated that they would operate reactively in that if they are aware of any waste that appears to be as a result of the festival in the surrounding areas they would ensure that the waste was collected so as to reduce any impact to the local residents.

The representative advised that they expect to have 150 SIA officers.

The representative advised that the dispersal policy would specify the agreed pick up and drop off designated areas and that they are in the process of collecting data to confirm where customers are coming from and also where they are likely to be going after the festival ends, in order to allow further dispersal plans to be put into place depending on the outcome of the data.

This will include appropriate signage being in place and liaison with the taxi companies to confirm the designated pick up areas.

The applicant also confirmed that TFL would be consulted and if it necessary they are happy to agree to the addition of a shuttle bus to assist with the egress of the customers from the event and will also contribute towards additional rail replacement services.

The licensing sub-committee heard from five of the local residents of the area who expressed concerns that they did not consider the area to be appropriate for the event and that they considered the capacity of the event was excessive for the area.

In addition residents also raised concerns over potential noise and concerns regarding the transport for egress after the event and stated that they did not consider the local transport to be sufficient for the event.

The residents also raised concerns about the dispersal policy and queried why the applicant had already sold tickets for the event prior to obtaining a licence.

Residents also raised concern about potential damage to the park area and stated that they considered the fact that the park area would be out of use to residents before the event and during the event to be a public nuisance.

Residents were concerned about the alcohol consumption during the course of the festival and potential disorder as a result which they were concerned would be detrimental to local residents.

Residents raised concerns that there was another larger festival going on at the same time in the Brockwell Park. However, it is understood by members that this festival will be taking place in early June 2018.

The residents stated that an event, which was not operated by the current applicant, took place approximately 12 years ago which was a disaster.

The licensing sub-committee expressed concerns regarding the current level of detail within the dispersal policy. The licensing sub-committee stated that they required further details to be provided to the working dispersal document before the event. The applicant confirmed that it was a working document and that they were in the process of finalising the policy.

In order to assist in alleviating the licensing sub-committee's concerns, the applicant agreed that the final dispersal policy should be presented and approved by the members of the safety advisory group (SAG) six weeks before the event in particular the licensing Sub Committee requested that the licensing officer should approve the final document before the event. This was agreed and imposed by way of an additional condition.

In reaching this decision the sub-committee had regard to all the relevant considerations and the four licensing objectives and considered that this decision was appropriate and proportionate.

4. Appeal rights

The applicant may appeal against any decision:

- a) To impose conditions on the licence
- b) To exclude a licensable activity or refuse to specify a person as premises supervisor.

Any person who made relevant representations in relation to the application who desire to contend that:

- a) The licence ought not to be been granted; or
- b) That on granting the licence, the licensing authority ought to have imposed different or additional conditions to the licence, or ought to have modified them in a different way may appeal against the decision.

Any appeal must be made to the Magistrates' Court for the area in which the premises are situated. Any appeal must be commenced by notice of appeal given by the appellant to the justices' clerk for the Magistrates' Court within the period of 21 days beginning with the day on which the appellant was notified by the licensing authority of the decision appealed against.

3. Reasons

The reasons for the decision are as follows:

The licensing officer presented his report to the licensing sub-committee and advised the members that the representations from all of the responsible authorities had been conciliated. As a result a comprehensive schedule of conditions had been agreed between the applicant and responsible authorities.

The licensing sub-committee then heard from the applicant who advised that the Gala Festival had been named in the best festival listings for Time Out magazine and The Independent newspaper and thereafter, referred to the representations that had been submitted by other persons in support of the application, in particular Party 13:

"I've been to Gala for the last 3-years since its conception...and seen it grow to a real hub for diversity, culture and inclusivity attracting people from all over London and beyond.

....Peckham is a young thriving community of creatives and Gala is a festival that couldn't be more aligned with that identity.

I can honestly say that Gala was one of the best days I've had at a festival".

The festival would have the same format as the 2018 event, but with substantial detailed conditions. The applicant sought an increase in capacity to 9,999. For the 2018 event, the sub-committee reduced the capacity to 8,000 based solely on the major transport stations being closed. This was no longer the case, so a realistic and safe dispersal of the increased capacity could be guaranteed. Overall, the capacity increase could be viewed as small, so would have no significant negative impact.

In addition, the applicant had organised an extremely detailed consultation plan that would be rolled out on an annual basis between July (being a debrief with the SAG following the event) up until April the following year with residents' drop, stakeholder's meeting and ecology consultation.

The applicant also sought a time limited licence for three years; not to circumvent the system. Three years had been agreed (in principle) with Southwark's Safety Advisory Group (SAG). The time limited application also detailed one event per year, which would be over three days, rather than the two days as per the 2018 application. This would give the applicant flexibility for future years. The application failed to provide any information or detail as to what the third day would consist of.

The applicant maintained that the event was for the benefit of the local community and put Peckham on map: discounted tickets for both days events were made available to local residents. A large proportion of those attending came from the SE15, SE22 and SE23 postcodes and therefore the dispersal issues anticipated in 2018 didn't occur as many patrons could walk home from the events. This was determined by the ticket sale data.

The licensing sub-committee noted that submissions from other persons, namely 28 objectors and seven supporters. The representations objecting to the application are concerned that significant noise nuisance, crime and disorder, endangerment of public safety and risk to children is likely to arise as a result of the proposed event. The representations contend that these issues were noted when the same festivals took place at the premises on 27 and 28 May 2018.

The licensing sub-committee then heard from three other persons who had submitted objections to the application, being parties 4, 33, and 34.

Party 4 advised that they had objected to the previous time limited applications, but each year the event became bigger and the capacity extended. The event closed off the park for the rest of the community and the introduction of a fourth stage meant the event was increasing by 25% in size.

Party 33 similarly referred to the poor consultation, noise and detrimental impact the event had on the environment.

Party 34 referred to the poor consultation that had taken place for the 2018 event and reference was made that the only consultation that had taken place for the 2019 event was the blue posters for this application. The park is very well used and is considered as an extension of local residents' homes that have no gardens. It was morally wrong to close off a public park for the benefit of a limited company. The noise generated from the event was unacceptable and those living in the vicinity could not escape from it.

The licensing sub-committee considered the level of objection raised by the local community and whilst a large number of local residents had submitted objections, there was also a good deal of support. The applicant is a reputable award winning event production agency that delivered large-scale events. The applicant has made considerable improvements with their engagement with the community and rolling consultation was now in place, which includes a consultation website.

Furthermore, the applicant agreed 64 conditions with the responsible authorities (in addition with SAG) demonstrating their commitment to reduce any negative impact on the community and environment, which includes (amongst things) consultation with an ecology officer to establish appropriate timelines for ecology surveys and the impact from noise will be reduced from the re-position of the speakers and the implementation of a noise hotline. The 2018 event resulted in few noise complaints and this is demonstrated by the environmental protection team's lack of detail of complaints made to them, in addition to their agreement to a conciliation.

This licensing sub-committee are therefore of the view that there would largely be only 2-days where the community would be negatively impacted and with the provisions in place, the overall benefit of the two day event out weighed the negative to the community. Local residents are advised that should the applicant breach the terms of any of the licence conditions or alternatively, if they should undermine the licensing objectives, then they should exercise their right to review the premises licence.

The licensing sub-committee did consider the applicant's request for a third day to be included in each annual event. Unfortunately, the applicant failed to provide sufficient information that justified their need for this. The applicant is reminded that a variation application could be submitted, should the details for a third day become available.

In reaching this decision the sub-committee had regard to all the relevant considerations and the four licensing objectives and considered that this decision was appropriate and proportionate.

4. Appeal rights

The applicant may appeal against any decision:

- a. To impose conditions on the licence
- b. To exclude a licensable activity or refuse to specify a person as premises supervisor.

Any person who made relevant representations in relation to the application who desire to contend that:

- a. The licence ought not to be been granted; or
- b. That on granting the licence, the licensing authority ought to have imposed different or additional conditions to the licence, or ought to have modified them in a different way may appeal against the decision.

Any appeal must be made to the Magistrates' Court for the area in which the premises are situated. Any appeal must be commenced by notice of appeal given by the appellant to the justices' clerk for the Magistrates' Court within the period of 21 days beginning with the day on which the appellant was notified by the licensing authority of the decision appealed against.
